Coming up in the rural wastes of the countryside...

you'd think

you'd be

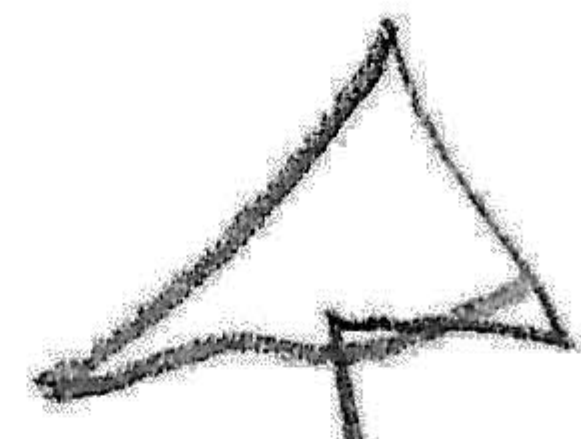

Exposed

to

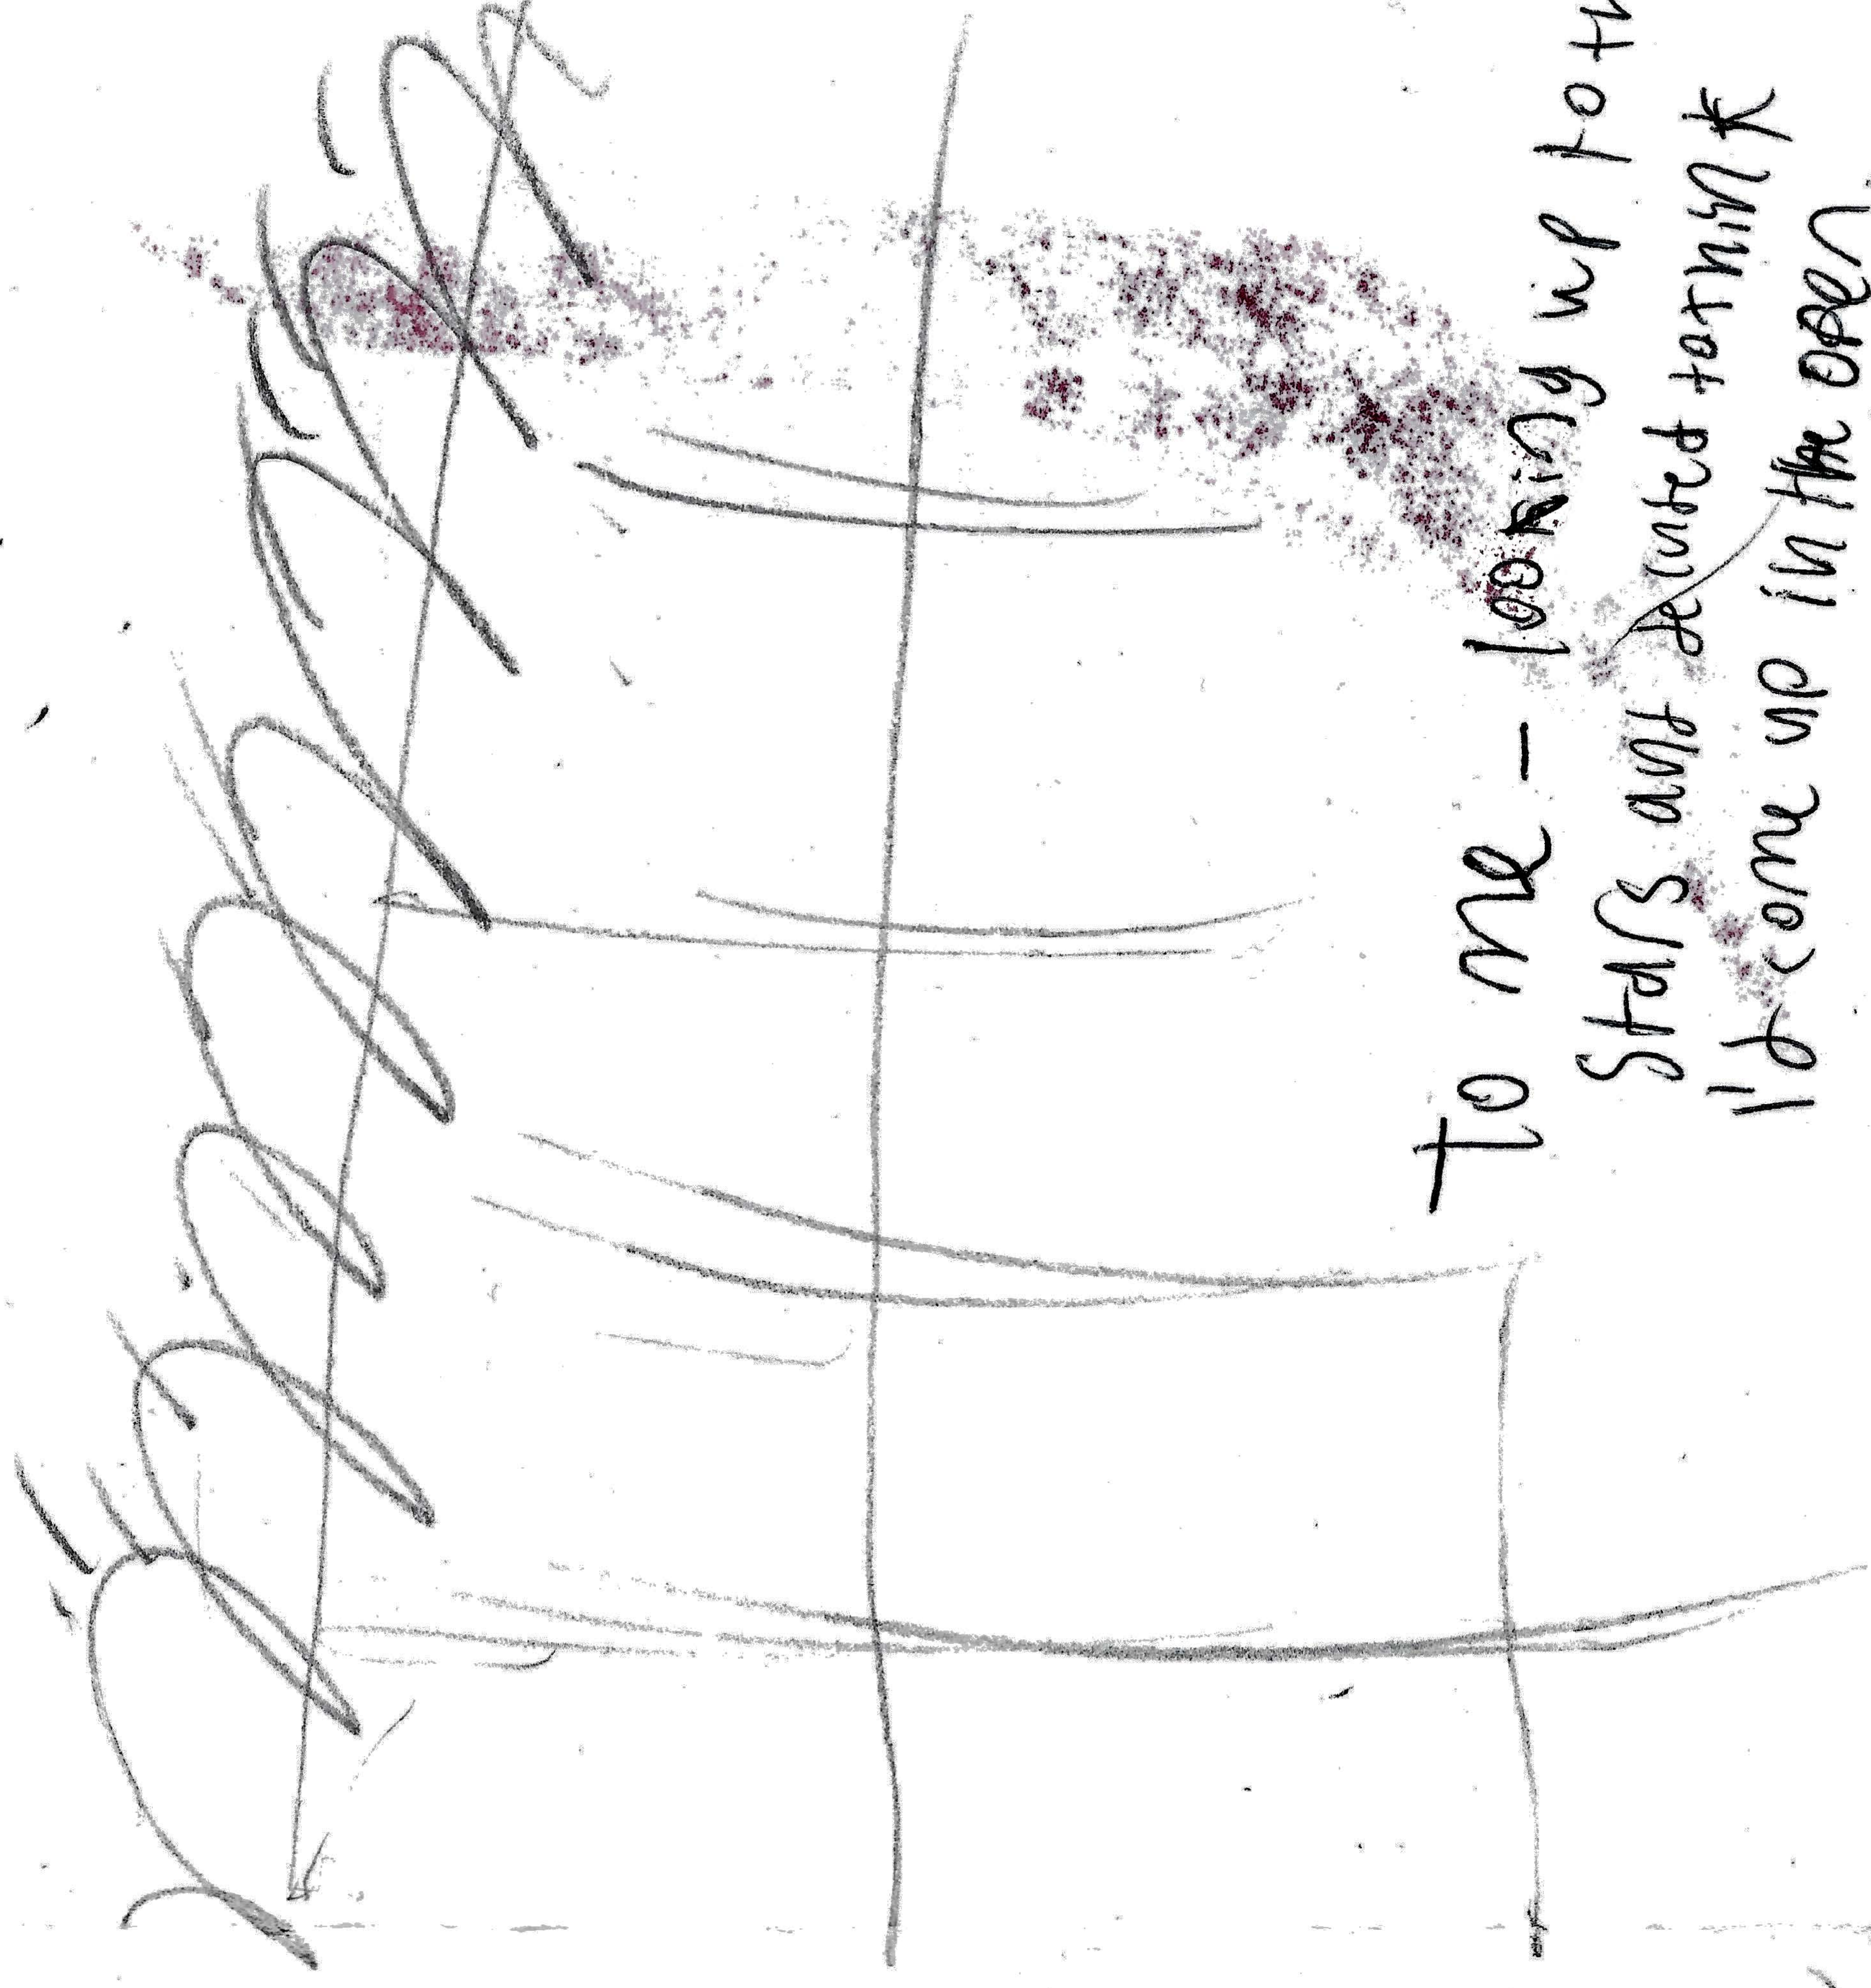

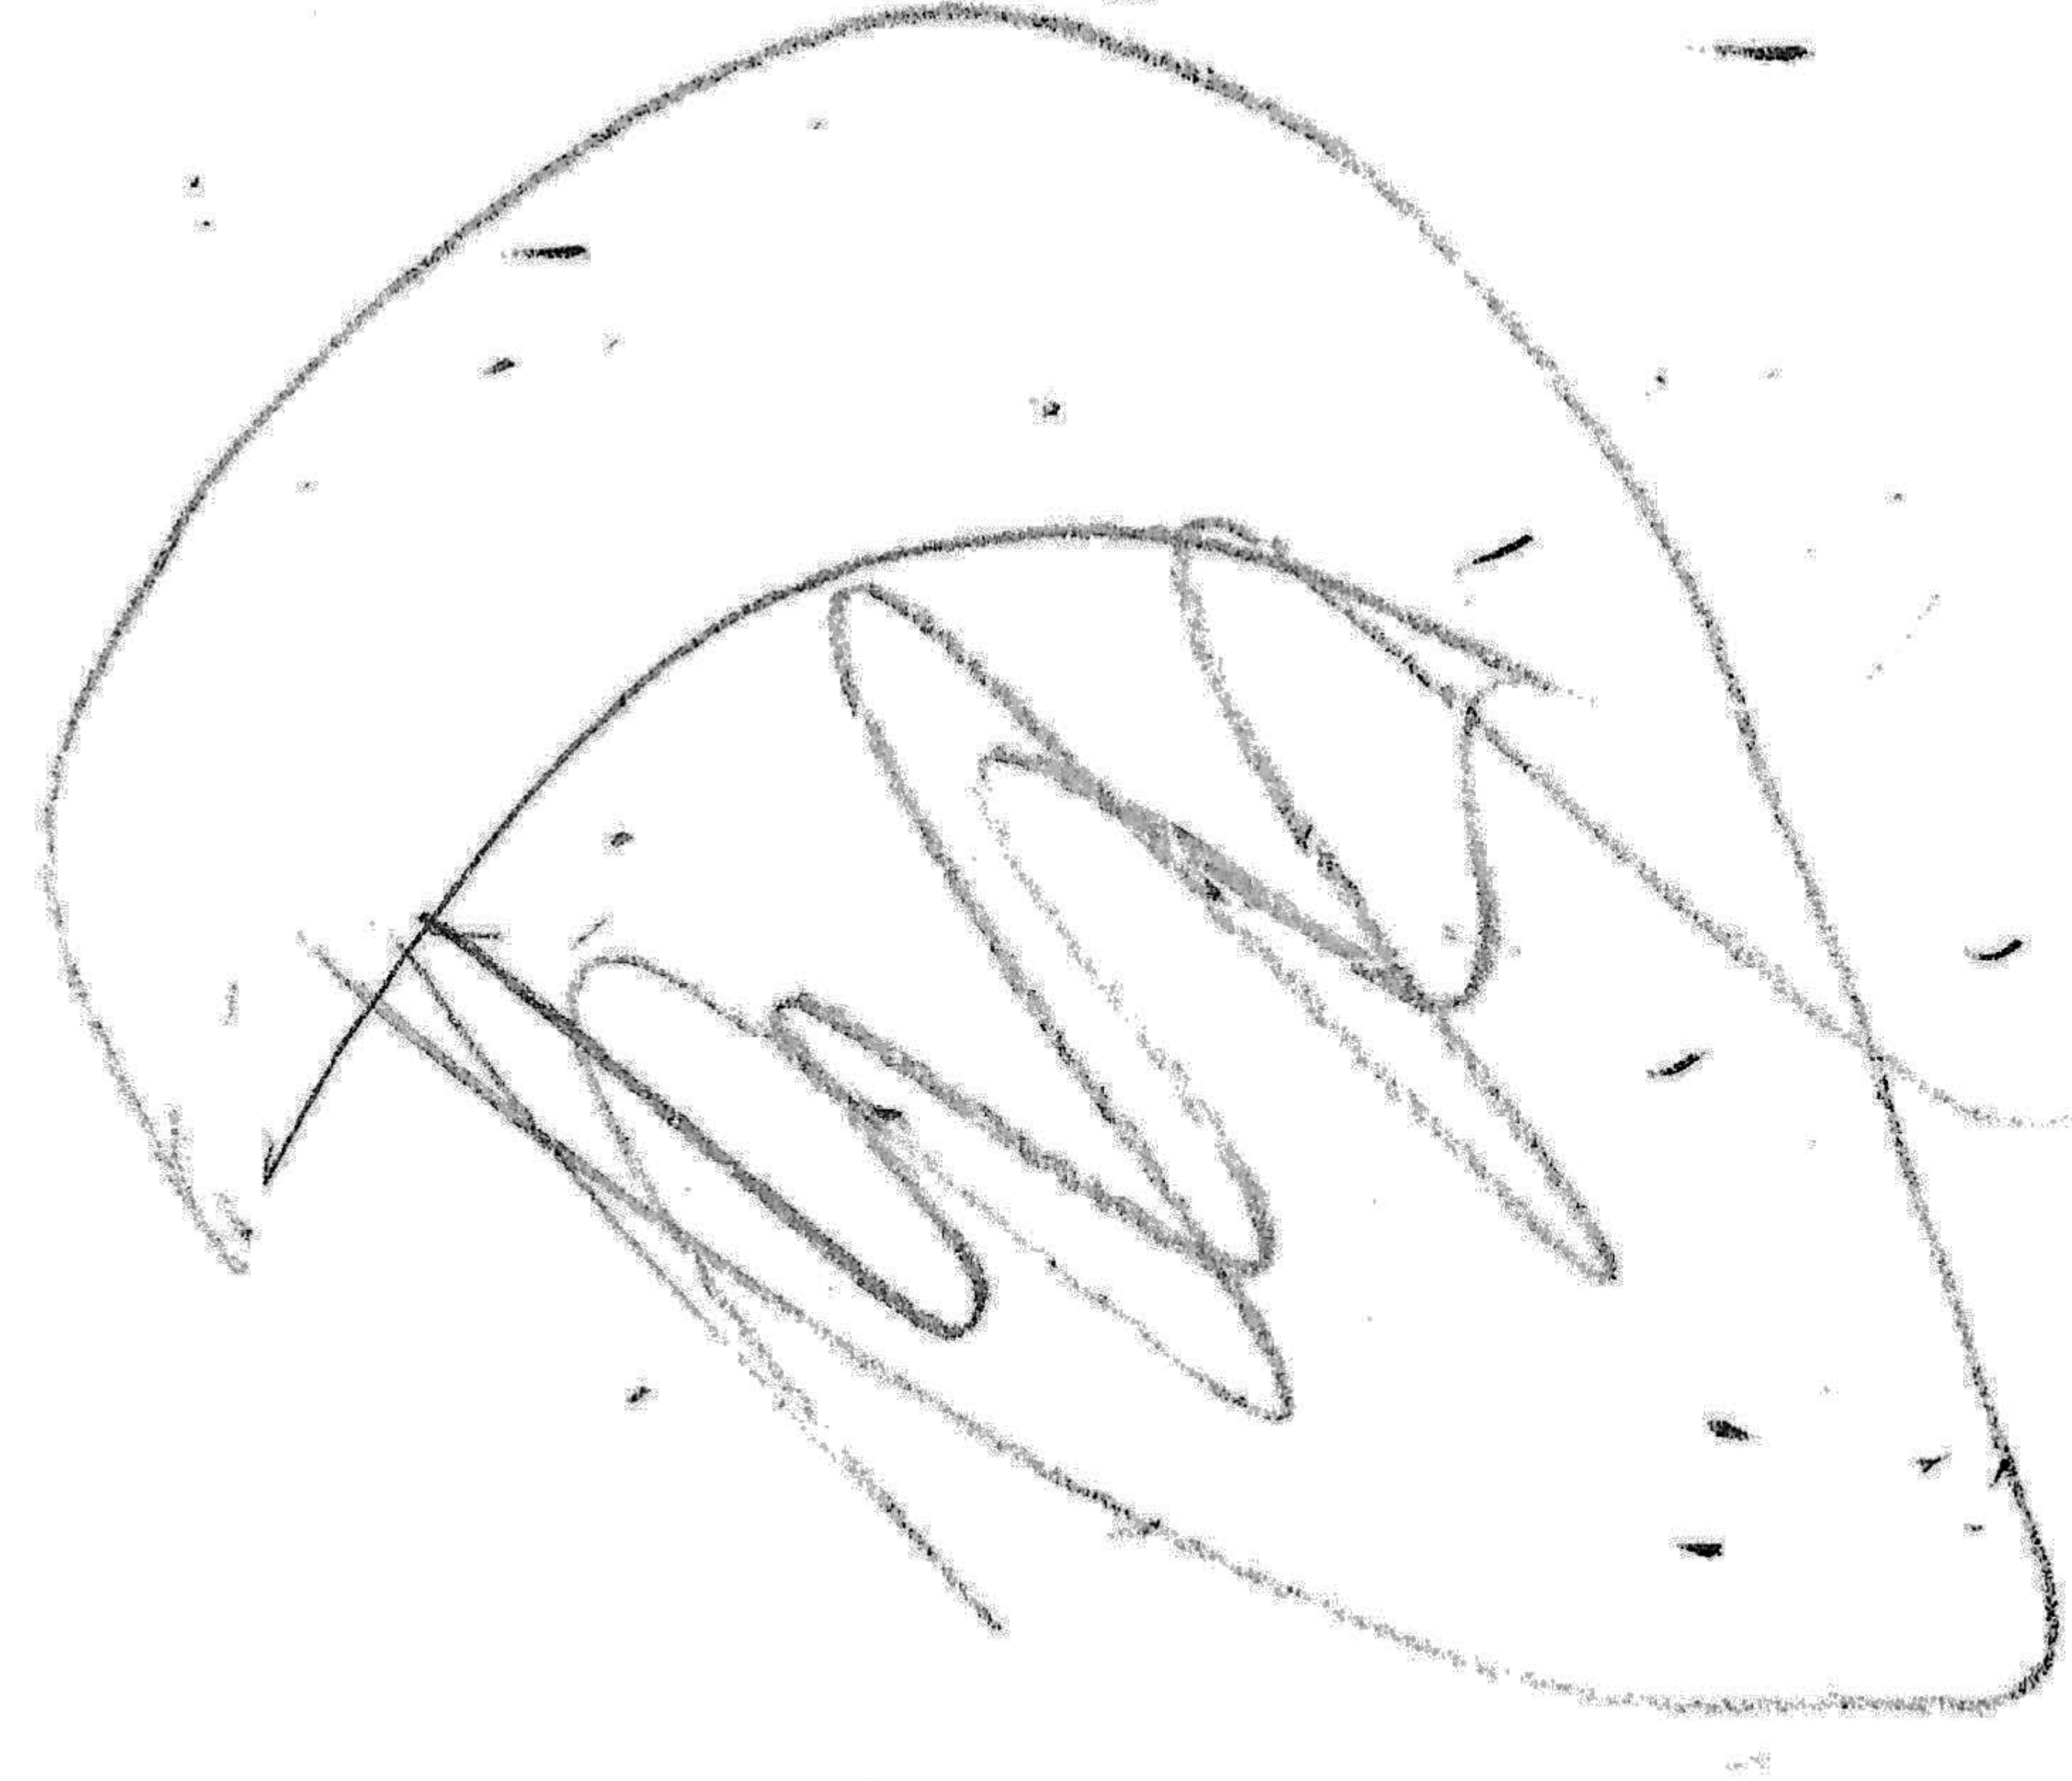

the

GREAT

OUTDOORS,

The great open spaces of nature

To me - looking up to the stars and dotted terrain

I'd come up in the open,

I find myself in an absolute territory where everything is inside. I need to go OUTSIDE

Here, where I'd hope to find Periphery - I find a place
So walked in,

The maze-like urban jungles become reminiscent of a Steppe.

However you'd be pressed to find
ATV
Openings.

All you will find
is wall after wall after wall.
Invisible lines
dividing foldings

Here where you might expect infinite expanses — will only find tones of despair, staid thanks to the help of tractor machines,

divided by federal canals,

surrounded by meads — ditches

This is not the

OUTDOORS,

you'd learn about
in great legends.

this is the Miserable
Aside

completely confined within the territory of civilization.
